

Prepare For
New Assault
By Hurricane
On West Coast

Pensacola, Fla., Sept. 18 (AP) — Frightened residents boarded up homes and business buildings along Florida's vulnerable west coast before an advancing hurricane, and Gov. Millard Caldwell's office announced that President Truman had declared a state of emergency in Florida.

The announcement came a few hours after the weather bureau disclosed that the treacherous tropical storm had curved sharply after inflicting multi-million dollar damage upon southern Florida, and was headed back toward the mainland from the Gulf of Mexico.

Yesterday, the unpredictable, uncontrollable monster ripped a path of destruction across Florida's most famous playground and farming section. It roared inland with 120-mile winds between Miami and Palm Beach, and emerged into the gulf near Fort Myers with scarcely diminished velocity.

Due At Midnight
Weather advisories placed the storm roughly 60 miles off the mouth of Tampa Bay at 11:30 a. m. (EST) and forecasts indicated it would slam into the low-lying western Florida about midnight, between Pensacola and Apalachicola. Hurricane flags flew from Pensacola to St. Marks, and winds up to 100-miles per hour were anticipated.

Civilians in the danger area were moved to reinforced buildings and beach residents fled to town. Seven Cuban fishing boats landed at Alligator Point as their crews sought shelter. Tallahassee residents with beach homes rushed from the capital to batten down their cottages.

Alabama Offers Aid
Truman's emergency proclamation enables the Federal Works Administration to distribute relief supplies in all hurricane areas.

Hurricane winds which mauled the lower west coast of Florida last night diminished to gale strength today, but continued to hamper transportation and communication.

In Atlanta, the Federal Reserve Bank announced that credits would be extended to finance replacement of storm-damaged property and would be exempt from usual consumer-credit controls.

At Montgomery, Ala., Gov. James Folsom offered all aid to Florida, and ordered 12 Alabama highway patrolmen into the threatened storm area for disaster duty. The Red Cross and other agencies braced for the newest blow.

Storm warnings flew from Pensacola west to Mobile, and heavy weather was expected east of Apalachicola along St. Georges and Dog Islands, and Apalachee bay.

Switches Course
The damaging hurricane, which yesterday whipped the rich resort and agricultural areas of south Florida with 120-mile gales altered its course abruptly after entering the Gulf near Fort Myers last night. Early reports indicated it might move westward without further menace to land, but it began to wallow northward during the night with accelerated speed.

The tropical disturbance, the worst experienced by Florida in a decade, left at least two dead, thousands of emergency-sheltered refugees, and 17 stranded or missing persons, as well as immense property damage.

Ripping into the wealthy "Gold Coast" playground between Miami and Palm Beach at noon yesterday, the savage storm pounded vacation spots and citrus and vegetable-growing farmlands alike with winds up to 120-MPH. Damage still was uncertain, but promised to run into many millions of dollars.

10,000 Fled
Ten thousand persons fled by train and automobile from their homes in the flood-mensured mucklands around Lake Okeechobee—terrified lest the storm repeat the 1928 catastrophe in which 1,500 were drowned by wind-blown water.

Early today 5,000 refugees were clustered around Sebring. And the Red Cross called upon the Navy at Jacksonville to send food for 15,000 meals. Upwards of 200,000 others in the hurricane's path found haven during the frightful night in emergency shelters near at hand.

Several Deaths
Coast Guard and Army planes were criss-crossing coastal waters on both sides of the peninsula today, searching for small boats which might be in distress.

Ferocity of the storm was generally regarded as equal to that of 1928, 1930 and 1935, but unlike those hurricanes there was only negligible loss of life. Early reports indicated one man was fatally injured in a highway accident near Tampa and another was electrocuted by a fallen wire at Palm Beach. One was shot to death in Miami while attempting to loot a damaged store.

In 1928 a total of 2,500 persons were killed or drowned in the West Palm Beach-Everglades area, while in 1935 a storm killed 500 at Key West. The 1930 disaster took 2,000 lives in Santo Domingo and Haiti.

Weather Forecast
Clear and cool again tonight. Friday fair and rather warm in afternoon.

COLLEGE OPENS 116TH YEAR WITH SERVICES TODAY

"Hard work, self-discipline and prayer are the three essentials to lay the foundation for a successful college career and after graduation," Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson told the record-breaking student body of over 1,200 at the 116th opening exercises of Gettysburg College in the Majestic theater this morning.

Early in his address, Dr. Hanson paid tribute to the men who were killed in the service of their country and who would have been members of the current senior class. "There is nothing more magnificent than the student in college who gives the best he has because it will dominate his life in the world of tomorrow," Dr. Hanson said as he drove home the fact that hard work is necessary in the post-graduation world as much as the undergraduate's world. "Happiness depends upon the degree one finds in his life the thing he likes and wants to do and then dedicates his life to it."

"Will Power And Won't Power"
In speaking of self-discipline, Dr. Hanson said that the supreme possession of life is a will that has "Will power and won't power." "Memory and imagination are two of God's finest gifts. Memories of many educated people are cluttered with little more than junk. Memory should be consistent with intelligence."

"The Bible is charged with the political experience of the world," Dr. Hanson related. "The ten commandments are not out of date but the foundation of any life any time." He said that the world won't be better until people realized human behavior is based on character.

Dr. Hanson told the students that there wasn't a student in the audience who doesn't have a place which some other one has eagerly sought. He mentioned the denials by the parents of many of the present student body to make their education possible. He paid tribute to the faculty of Gettysburg college as "the finest faculty I know."

After the academic procession, the group sang the college hymn, "Blessing and Honor." Dr. Wilbur E. Tilberg, dean of the college, read the scripture lesson which was taken from the thirteenth chapter of first Corinthians. After a prayer by Dr. Dwight F. Putman, pastor of the Christ Lutheran church, Dr. Hanson spoke. The Alma Mater and benediction followed.

Plan Granite Memorial To Extinct Passenger Pigeon

A granite memorial to the long-extinct passenger pigeon will be erected in the Pigeon Hills at the eastern edge of Adams county Sunday, October 12, under the auspices of the Conewago district of the Boy Scouts, it was disclosed today by scouting officials.

The shaft and tablet are to be erected to the memory of the birds that years ago flocked in clouds to the Pigeon Hills and "in the interest of conservation."

A group of Hanover citizens led by William Anthony, Hanover printer and publisher of numerous historical articles, conceived the idea of a memorial to the passenger pigeon which has been extinct since the last of its species died 33 years ago in a Cincinnati zoo.

The actual dedication has been turned over to the Boy Scouts.

Heading the committee on arrangements is Edward H. Blettnet, organization and extension chairman for the Boy Scouts of the York-Adams area council. Mr. Anthony, also on the committee, has arranged to have the memorial placed 100 yards from the York-Adams line, three and a half miles northeast of Hanover at Reservoir park on lands of the Hanover Municipal Water Works.

Chairmen of standing committees reported after which several projects suggested by the Church Council for action, were presented by the Rev. Dwight F. Putman. Littlestown CLUB WILL TRY FEDERATION OF COUNTY GROUP

The possibility of re-establishing a county federation of women's clubs was discussed at a meeting of the Woman's Community club of Littlestown and vicinity Wednesday evening at the POS of A hall in Littlestown.

After a discussion in which the president, Mrs. Charles W. Weikert, and two other club members, Mrs. Irvin Kindig and Mrs. Samuel E. Renner reported on a meeting they had in Gettysburg with Mrs. R. S. Saby concerning the possibility of organizing a county federation, the Littlestown club voted to give the county federation a trial of one year.

Such a federation has the advantage of availability of speakers, pictures, slides and other program helps which chairmen of program committees are advised to use, the members were told. A county federation existed a number of years ago, but was dropped during the war.

AWAIT RESULT OF 'SHELLING' BY MARSHALL

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Back in the days of World War I, when trench warfare was in vogue, a big offensive was launched with a terrific bombardment of enemy positions, after which the attacking troops went "over the top" in the grim, gray dawn—and generally it was only when close contact with the entrenched foe was established that the efficacy of the bombardment could be accurately estimated.

Yesterday in the U.N. Assembly the western Democracies opened up a fierce bombardment against the Russian bloc as a preliminary effort to force the latter to abandon tactics which the west condemns as dangerous to world peace and rehabilitation. It was a violent assault, but we still have to get a view of the Red trenches before being able to determine what, if any, damage has been done in the way of focusing world attention on the critical situation.

Certainly some of the language was the product of shirt-sleeve diplomacy.

Bold Program

U. S. Secretary of State Marshall of course was the big gun and he would seem to have made the Russian delegation take temporary cover. Soviet Chief Delegate Vishinsky, who had been scheduled to follow Marshall yesterday, postponed his speech after having had a good preview of the text of Marshall's address.

Marshall—the general who had much to do with the strategy which brought Allied victory in the recent war—laid down a bold, concrete program that brought him a final burst of applause which seemed to observers to come from all quarters of the great theatre excepting those of Russia and her satellites. As was expected, he lashed out at Soviet "abuse" of the veto in the Security Council which has been virtually hamstringed. And he demanded that the Assembly should create its own Security Council as a substitute which couldn't be interfered with by the veto.

Wait For Result

That in itself was enough to stand the Assembly on its head, but Marshall went the limit. He insisted that the U.N. save Greece from Communist aggression. He called on the Assembly to pin hostile acts against Greece on Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania, and appoint a border commission to forestall further troubles in the Balkans. The general declared that unless Greece can be saved, no other small nation can feel secure.

Mexican Foreign Minister Jaime Torres Bodet yesterday told the Assembly that persistent use of the big power veto has paralyzed the cause of world peace. There is danger, he said, that the abuse of the veto in the Security Council may make peace impossible. Few observers would dispute this observation.

We now must wait to see what Russia will do, but there is this current Soviet viewpoint to be added: Moscow newspapers yesterday published a dispatch from New York by Tass, the official news agency, asserting that American policy in the U.N. seeks to subject the world peace organization to the White House or, failing that, to wreck the U.N.

Countian To Mark 96th Anniversary

Sunday, September 21, will mark the ninety-sixth birthday of J. Frank Eisenhart, Abbotstown's oldest resident, who is a native of East Berlin where he resided until his young manhood.

Mr. Eisenhart has been a widower for some time, but during recent years his daughters, the Misses Elsie E. and Mollie K. Eisenhart, and his son, Willis W. Eisenhart, retired after long careers as teachers and came to spend their retirement with their father at home. Another daughter, Mrs. N. R. Criswell, lives at York Springs.

The nonagenarian, who recovered from a critical illness during the summer of 1946 sufficiently to be about his home, is now in fairly good health for his age, but seldom leaves his own premises. His sight has become greatly impaired but he still takes a lively interest in local, state and national affairs as read to him in the papers by his son and daughters. His hearing has also become poor, but his mind remains very active and he is always eager for company.

OVERELL TRIAL NEARLY ENDED

Santa Ana, Calif., Sept. 18 (AP)—The case of the state of California against Louise Overell and George Gollum, who have both denied from the witness stand that they murdered her parents, was just about completed today.

Except for the testimony of a few minor witnesses all the evidence was before the jury of six men and six women. Defense lawyers, who plan to rest their case tomorrow, said they had four witnesses to call in behalf of the 21-year-old Gollum and one for Louise, 18-year-old heiress to the half million dollar estate of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Overell.

Otto Jacobs, chief counsel for Louise, said his last witness would give testimony "of great significance to the defense case," but declined to elaborate on this.

Gollum completed his testimony yesterday, adding his definite denial to that of Louise's that they did not kill her parents and did not know who did.

The property was recently purchased from Glen W. Boyer, Paradise township electrician who had bought it in August from Purley H. Grove. The property is to the rear of the Purley Grove place on Abbotstown street.

The veterans' organization was named in memory of East Berlin borough's only Gold Star hero of World War II, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Eli J. Gross, who was killed in Pacific action four years ago this month. A large number of members have been recruited since the initial meeting.

NEW SERVICE IN BIGLERVILLE

Harrisburg Sept. 18—Biglerville's new telephone system was cut into service Wednesday evening. The conversion from the old method of operation to the new system was completed by engineers of the United Telephone Company without interruption of service.

At a given signal following the final testing of the new equipment, all the telephone lines of the Biglerville exchange were switched from the old magnet switchboard to the new four-position switchboard. Telephone operators Geraldine Eyer and Gladys Roth handled the last calls at the old switchboard shortly before nine o'clock and then, immediately following the switch, took seats at the new switchboard beside Alma Ecker and Sara Hare who handled the first calls through the new system. Marvel Roth, Biglerville chief operator, was on duty as the operator in charge. Mabel Crouse and Ruth Nary, other members of the Biglerville operating force, were interested spectators.

Numbers of most Biglerville telephones were changed simultaneously with the "cutover." C. A. Bixler, district manager for the United Company, said that the number changes were made necessary to insure that the telephone users would receive the maximum service improvements possible with the new system.

New telephone directories listing the changed numbers are being distributed to Biglerville customers this week.

A number of telephone company officials attended the "cutover" and reported they were "pleased with the smoothness of the conversion."

TRAPPED VET DUG FROM WELL

Warner, N. H., Sept. 18 (AP)—Trapped more than 21 hours at the bottom of a 20-foot well that caved in on him, Norman Woods, 23-year-old army combat veteran, was extricated today after 100 volunteers and state police worked all night to dig him out.

His condition was not determined immediately as he was rushed 20 miles in an ambulance to a hospital in Concord.

Woods, trapped at the bottom of the 20-foot excavation was unable to move from his waist down. His legs were held fast by timbers and other debris.

He donned an oxygen mask at intervals during the night and spoke a few encouraging words to his young wife when she appeared on the scene. The oxygen was supplied to counter impure air in the well.

"He's a tough man who saw plenty of fighting overseas," observers reported, "and he should come through this."

MAN BEATEN AND ROBBED IN HOTEL

Philadelphia, Sept. 18 (AP)—A 51-year-old man who gave the name of Franklin B. McCarthy, Los Angeles, was strong-armed, beaten, bound and robbed in his room on the 20th floor of the Warwick hotel last night.

He was the victim, said Detective James Dougherty, of a surprise attack of two young men wearing sailors' uniforms who accompanied him to the hotel when he told them he wanted to return to his room for money. McCarthy told police he met the two at a bar.

Attacked from behind the moment he opened his room door, McCarthy was left dazed and bleeding on the floor, his hands bound behind him with a sheet.

It was some minutes before he managed to knock over the room telephone and mumble into it an appeal for help. By that time the two men were gone with $30 snatched from McCarthy's bureau drawer.

Bride And College Reach Compromise

Fort Worth, Tex., Sept. 18 (AP)—Texas Wesleyan college and an English war bride, who was a United States WAC corporal, today had amicably settled their differences in a minor dispute involving motherhood and higher education.

The war bride will abstain from the three R's while awaiting a mid-October visit from the stork. Texas Wesleyan's part of the bargain will be to allow the 24-year-old mother to return to school after the event and try to make up the lost work.

The situation developed when Mrs. Alma Coats, an attractive redhead, discovered her approaching motherhood would act as a deterrent to her continuing her pre-medical school course.

Mrs. Coats, who was born in Scotland and reared in London, quoted two authorities as requesting her to remain away from school until after her baby was born.

DEATHS MOUNT IN JAP FLOODS

Tokyo, Sept. 18 (AP)—Floods drove Japanese from five densely-populated districts of Tokyo today and even higher crests were feared in the wake of a typhoon disaster which has caused an estimated 3,370 casualties.

American troops in assault boats rescued thousands of refugees from rooftops and dikes on the flooded plain east of Tokyo. Air force planes dropped food to some of those beyond reach of boats.

The army was in the field for the second American disaster relief operation of the occupation—one which challenged its resources as much as last year's major earthquake in southern Japan.

As the muddy water swirled through the northern and eastern districts of Tokyo, the First Cavalry Division reported new floods of serious proportions were expected to hit the city shortly.

Upstream, landslides added to the horrors of four days of lashing rains and floods. A First Cavalry observer at Kumagaya, 50 miles northwest of Tokyo, reported light but threatening rainfall was beginning there in that heart of the disaster zone.

Kyodo news agency and the newspaper Yomiuri said that farther north, Mount Akagi in Gunma prefecture let go with slides of tons of rock, mud and sand that buried most of Tako and two nearby villages, killing 182 Japanese and injuring 185.

Yomiuri said out of 600 houses in Tako, 112 collapsed and the rest were covered with mud and sand. Huge boulders slid down in an avalanche on the villages.

RAPS PICKETS OF FREEDOM TRAIN

Philadelphia, Sept. 18 (AP)—A group of 30 pickets were far outnumbered as thousands of Philadelphians paid the first public visits to the Freedom Train—red, white and blue special that will carry America's historical treasures on a nationwide tour.

At the dedication ceremonies for the seven-car train yesterday, U. S. Senator Edward Martin (R-Pa.) condemned what he termed recent Communist attempts to discredit the Freedom Train.

"If anyone in Russia had planned deliberately to warp and distort the meaning of a similar train there—not a freedom train but a totalitarian train—you know what would have happened to him," Senator Martin said. "But we are different here. We have a constitution and a Bill of Rights. We have our civil liberties."

As he spoke the 30 pickets paraded outside the Pennsylvania railroad's Broad Street station carrying placards urging President Truman and Attorney General Tom C. Clark—originator of the freedom train project—to grant "amnesty for all war objectors."

The Freedom Train, bearing more than 100 of this country's most treasured documents, will leave here Friday on a 33,000-mile tour of 300 cities.

Accuse Yanks Of Crimes, Robberies

Trieste, Sept. 18 (AP)—The Press department of the Yugoslav Ministry of Foreign Affairs has accused United States troops of committing crimes and robberies during their withdrawal from Istrian territory taken over by Yugoslavia under the Italian peace treaty.

The head of the Press department told a news conference at Abbazia yesterday that "a series of crude attacks on property and citizens" was committed. He added that the Yugoslav Ministry of Foreign Affairs had asked its representative in Washington to " lodge a sharp protest and ask for compensation."

Predicts War If Strifes Continue

New Delhi, Sept. 18 (AP)—Mohandas K. Gandhi declared today that unless Pakistan and India frankly confess their guilt for the grave communal atrocities committed in the Punjab and in Delhi war between the two new dominions appears inevitable.

He told a heavily attended meeting here that if the two states persisted in their present attitudes toward the violence which has taken countless thousands of lives in communal strife between Moslems, Sikhs and Hindus, it would mean war.

Plan Aerial Photos Of Pa. Mountains

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 18 (AP)—The mountains of Pennsylvania—despair of footweary surveyors since the days of Mason and Dixon—are going to have their picture taken from the air.

The Pennsylvania Turnpike commission announced yesterday that a planned 120-mile extension of this state's trans-mountain super highway will be hastened by use of aerial cameras in making necessary topographic surveys.

sinfulness, and with the knowledge that it could not purify itself by its own powers made it feel an intense desire for an atonement brought about by God. This led to a rapid and intense development of the guilt and sin offerings, as well as to a great annual expiation of the people and the sanctuary on the Day of Atonement.

The need for atonement and the rite of expiation, which was performed with such holy exaltation and the highest devotion, arose out of the sincere turning of their hearts to God, clearly expressed in the commandment that they should afflict their souls before the Lord. Fasting was part of this affliction of soul.

When the Temple was destroyed a second time (70 C.E.) the loss of the sacrificial ritual of expiation, which had been largely invested with a mystic consecration, affected the people painfully; but Jonathan ben Zakkal comforted them by quoting the word of the prophet, "For I desire mercy, and not sacrifice." From this time on the prophetic ideal of the day was observed.

The evening prayers, which are invested with an especial sanctity are called "Kol Nidre" after the opening prayer. From very early times the service of prayer during the day lasted uninterruptedly from morning to evening.

GETTYSBURG and LITTLESTOWN

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh.

Yes, I'm Guilty!

Folks sometimes criticize us small-town editors for the way we often play up "little things" ahead of big... human, local news in place of world events.

I can't deny it. Read the Clarion and you'll learn about the Martins' golden wedding anniversary... about the community sing down by the river... the husking bee at Sober Hoskins', where neighbors helped husk the corn, and later drank sparkling beer together.

"Little things?" Maybe. But from where I sit, they add up to the bigger things we call America: The friendliness of small towns... the helping hand... the respect for one another's rights. And above all the love of fellowship and freedom—whether it's freedom to speak one's mind or choose between a glass of beer or buttermilk.

I figure that if everybody looks after the "little things," maybe the bigger things will take care of themselves.

BROOKLYN HAS PROVEN BEST TEAM IN LOOP

By JOE REICHLER
(AP Sports Writer)

There is no doubt today but that the best team in the National League will represent it in the World Series. The Brooklyn Dodgers, only a couple steps away from becoming the official opponent of the New York Yankees in the fall classic which gets under way at the Yankee Stadium September 30, proved conclusively that they were the best ball club in the entire circuit when they knocked St. Louis out of the race last week in the Cardinals' own lair.

All season long, the Dodgers were forced to listen to that same old plaint, "The Cards are the best ball club in the league."

But what the experts and fans failed to see was that the Dodgers had a bunch of stars in their own right. Six of their first nine were selected on the National League's all-star team back in July. They were Ed Stanky, second base; Pee Wee Reese, shortstop; Bruce Edwards, catcher; Dixie Walker, right field; Pete Reiser, center field; and Ralph Branca, pitcher. The other three, Jackie Robinson, Johnny Jorgensen and Carl Furillo, earned distinction, too. Robinson, at first and Jorgensen, at third, are rated up front for rookie-of-the-year honors.

Then there is Fireman Hugh Casey, considered the best relief pitcher in the league. The Brooks reserves are rated the best in baseball.

May Gain Title Today

The Dodgers can clinch the flag today provided they win and the Cards lose. They opened up a nine and a half game bulge last night by defeating the Pirates 4-2 in Pittsburgh while the Boston Braves were shelling the Cards 10-8 in St. Louis. Any combination of two can see it up now. The Brooks have nine games left to play and the Cards 12.

The battle for second place in the American league continued to wax hot as the Boston Red Sox moved into the spot, a half game to the good of Detroit. The Red Sox split their doubleheader with St. Louis while the Tigers dropped both ends of theirs to the Athletics in Philadelphia.

After losing the opener to the Browns 9-4 despite a three run homer by Ted Williams, his 30th, the Red Sox won the second when right-hander Joe Dobson pitched a one-hit 4-0 shutout.

A's Take Pair

The Athletics knocked the Tigers out of second place when they beat the Bengals 6-4 and 8-6, coming from behind in each game to win.

Allie Reynolds boosted his chances of hurling in the World Series opener for the New York Yankees when he pitched his team to a 5-0 win over the Chicago White Sox in the Yankee Stadium. He fanned eight for his 18th victory. He has lost seven.

Allen Gettel hurled a six-hit 7-0 shutout for Cleveland over the Senators in a night game at Washington to move the Indians within a game of third place.

Johnny Mize rapped out his 48th and 49th home runs of the season to tie Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh for the major league lead as the New York Giants divided a doubleheader with the Cubs in Chicago. The Giants won the opener 9-3 and the Cubs took the second game slugfest 12-10.

Johnny Vander Meer pitched his second successive four-hitter for the Cincinnati Reds as he shut out the Philadelphia Phils 12-0 in Cincinnati. Rookie outfielders Frank Baumholtz and Tommy Tatum each drove in three runs.

DIZZY DEAN TO PITCH ONE GAME

St. Louis, Sept. 18 (AP)—Jerome Heiman (Dizzy) Dean, who's been talking about St. Louis Brownie pitching from a broadcasting booth all season, has signed a contract to get out on the mound for a one-game appearance with the American league cellar dwellers.

The one-time St. Louis Cardinal hurling star signed the player-contract yesterday and probably will get a chance to find out if his "high, hard one" has any effect on today's hitters in the season's finale.

Brownie Manager Herald (Muddy) Ruel said at Boston he would use Dean on the last day of the season against the Chicago White Sox (Sept. 28, "providing the White Sox are assured of their place in the race and we are assured of ours.") "If either team has a chance to gain or lose a place, I doubt that using Dean would be the proper thing to do," he added.

It has been six years since "the Diz" went on the voluntarily retired list and it was seven years before that when the Texas ball player gave sports editors something to write about with his 30-victories against only four losses with the Redbirds in 1934.

As usual with major league contracts, the salary was not announced but Dean declared "It's the best contract I ever got, since it's the first one I haven't sent back for more money."

The cormorant must surface to consume a fish after he has caught it under water.

Eagles Score First Exhibition Victory

Bethlehem, Pa., Sept. 18 (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football league registered their first exhibition win of the season after two losses, defeating their American league farm club, the Bethlehem Bulldogs, 42 to 7, last night.

Steve Van Buren broke loose on the ninth play of the game to scamper 33 yards for the first Eagle score. Eagle end Al Wistert, converted tackle, took a 30-yard pass from quarterback Al Sherman for the second touchdown and rookie Bill Mackrides drove over the Bulldogs' goal line for the third after end Johnny Green had blocked and recovered a kick.

The Bulldogs' lone tally came in the second quarter when Ray Dini flipped an aerial to Warren Harris for a 43-yard touchdown. The Eagles added two touchdowns in the third and fourth quarters.

Philadelphia had been defeated previously by the Chicago Bears and the Chicago Cardinals, both of the NFL's western division. The Bulldogs went into the games with two wins to their credit.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Sept. 18 (AP)—The mark of success as a pitcher is winning 20 games a season (remember when it used to be 30?) and from all indications there won't be many pitchers holding out for more pay next spring. . . . Two major league elbowers—Brooklyn's Ralph Branca and Cincinnati's Ewell Blackwell—have made it to spare with 21 victories each. Three or four others still can attain the coveted 20. . . . And in the minors, the same situation prevails. Figures for eleven minor leagues appearing in this week's sporting news show just eight pitchers who won 20 or more games. . . . Top man on this list is Clarence Beers of Houston with 25 wins in the regular season. And, judging by his attitude on world series television sponsors, Happy Chandler wouldn't okay Clarence for the big leagues. . . .

MAJOR BATTLES ON SCHOLASTIC GRID PROGRAM

By TOM SHRIVER

Harrisburg, Sept. 18 (AP)—With most of the preliminary games out of the way the state's scholastic football teams get down to serious business this week-end with major battles on all fronts.

One of the highlights will be Johnstown high's visit to New Kensington, with the winner moving a long step forward in quest of the 1947 crown in the WPIAL. Last year New Kensington went through untroubled to take the crown, and has moved through the first two games this year, but in facing the Trojans the defending champions are up against a worthy foe.

Another headliner in the same section pends Huntingdon, last year's Class A king of the Western conference, against Westmont and the sensational Johnny Hipp, who scored 22 points himself in Westmont's latest victory. Other games in that sector find Catholic High of Steubenville, Ohio, at Johnstown Catholic for an interstate fray; Cresson at Ebsburg; Richland Township at Bedford; Lilly at Windber, and Allegany of Cumberland, Md., at Somerset in another interstate test.

Up in the northwest, where football always gets off to a fast start, some big games are on tap, with Meadville at Erie academy, and Erie East at Bradford among the headliners. Other frays in that sector find Erie Strong Vincent at Sharon; Franklin, surprise winner over Warren, going to Grove City; Millcreek, fresh from a win over Titusville, invading Girard; Greenville at Oil City, and North East at Corry on the Friday schedule.

Eastern Games
Headliners in the east find William Penn and Harrisburg Catholic in their annual scrap that will attract nearly 15,000 fans at the state's capital; Eastern high of Washington, D. C., at York; Ben Franklin of Philadelphia at Reading; John Bartram of Philadelphia at Lancaster; South Philadelphia at Allentown, and Schuylkill Haven at Pottsville are other important tests.

In the coal regions Tamaqua meets unbeaten Mt. Carmel, McAdoo goes to Minersville; Allentown Catholic invades Hazleton; Summit Hill and Lansford clash in a grudge game; Hazle Township goes to Berwick; Coal Township helps Sunbury open the season, and West Scranton invades Williamsport.

Hershey, defending champion in the South Penn conference opens with Shippensburg in a game transferred to Hummelstown; while in the conference of the Roses the defending champions from Ephrata invade West York; Columbia invades Elizabethtown; and Red Lion goes to Lititz.

GIANTS CRUSH RAMS 30 TO 3
New York, Sept. 18 (AP)—The New York Giants' stock as favorites to repeat as National Football league eastern champions soared today on the performance of Jerry Niles, ex-Iowa ace, who looms as an able successor to the banned Frank Filchock in the aerial department.

Niles tossed two touchdown passes to George Franck and galloped 22 yards for another tally as the Giants trampled the Los Angeles Rams 30-3 in an exhibition game before 28,834 fans at the Polo grounds last night.

Niles, who set a bunch of passing records in the big nine conference two years ago, was with the Giants only briefly last year and roomed with Filchock until the club decided to send the Iowa down to Jersey City. He hadn't shown much so far this season until the Giants opened their offensive surprise package against the touted Rams last night.

The Rams exploded practically none of the dynamite that had won them three straight exhibition victories and their only three points came on a 40-yard field goal by Bob Waterfield in the final chapter. Waterfield was bottled up by the Giants defense so thoroughly that four of his flips were intercepted, two of them resulting directly in New York touchdowns.

Three other NFL clubs engaged in preseason warmups last night. The champion Chicago Bears smothered their eastern rivals, the Washington Redskins 28-7 in an exhibition at Soldier field before 54,723, largest crowd ever to witness a pro game in Chicago.

Utica, N. Y., Sept. 18 (AP)—The Utica Blue Sox, Eastern league pennant winners, opened their final drive for the Governor's Cup last night with a 16-5 route of the Albany Senators.

The Senators, runners-up in the regular season, went down before a 19-hit attack. Lou Posschl, who hurled a neat six-hitter, was the only Blue Sox batter who neither connected for a hit nor drove in a run.

Yogi Giammarco led the assault, accounting for five runs with a double and four singles in five trips to the plate.

The Sox will put up Southpaw Dick Koercher tonight against Albany's Fred Clemence.

Wilmington Rocks Take Two In Row

Allentown, Pa., Sept. 18 (AP)—Wilmington's Blue Rocks made it two wins in a row in the Interstate league final playoffs last night, turning back the Allentown Cardinals 7-5 before a crowd of 2,637. The win put the Rocks one game ahead in the best-of-seven series, 2-1.

Trailing 4-3 in the seventh, the Rocks sent southpaw Al Gavey to the showers with a three-run outburst, and added another marker for safety in the ninth after Frank Hecklinger clouted the game's second homer to pull the Cards back into the fight. Allentown's Bob McLean hit for the circuit, with one aboard in the fourth to tie the score at 2-2.

Johnny Clements, Wilmington right hander, went all the way for the Rocks, allowing eight hits and fanning 3.

GHS TILT WITH YORK CATHOLIC ON SATURDAY

Announcement has been made that the Gettysburg-York Catholic high school football game originally listed for Friday night at York has been set back until Saturday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock.

The change was brought about because of York high being in action against Washington Eastern high school Friday night on Meadowbrook field, York, where the Maroon tilt will be staged.

Drills this week have indicated there will be some changes in the Maroon starting lineup. Herb Bowling, halfback, and Kenny Biesecker, fullback, will probably draw starting assignments in the backfield along with Billy Bushman, quarterback, and Doug Knox, halfback.

The line will probably be composed of Bruce Westerahl and Guy Donaldson, ends; Bill Shull and Charles Kitzmiller, tackles; Dave Neiber and Harold Dayhoff, guards, and Bill Bucher, center.

Positions are still wide open on the squad and starting roles are subject to change at any time.

Show Good Form
Two youngsters who have been showing up well this week are Bobby Sachs and Harold Meilas. Both are light but have plenty of scrap and will see plenty of action. Dave Neiber, scheduled for a starting post at guard, is in his first year of football and may clinch the position through his determined play.

It was announced that Steinberger, guard, was dismissed from the squad for failing to report regularly for drills.

A number of games of much interest to local fans are scheduled for Friday night. Certain to draw a large number of local followers is the DeLone Catholic-Hanover high tilt at McSherrystown Friday evening at McSherrystown.

Other Games
Also scheduled for Friday night is the opening game in the South Penn conference when Hershey, defending champion, meets Shippensburg on the Hummelstown high school field.

Sports dopesters have already stamped Mechanicsburg, Hanover or Chambersburg as the most likely successors to Hershey as champions. The Hershey team lost practically its entire starting team from a year ago and lost its opener to Hummelstown last Friday evening.

Other Friday games which will be of interest locally are West Wyoming high at Carlisle; Chambersburg at Lebanon, and Scotland at Waynesboro.

Cougar Gridders Will Visit Here
The Washington State football squad which battles Penn State in the Hershey Stadium Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock will pay a visit to the Gettysburg battlefield Friday afternoon.

This afternoon the Cougars will arrive in Harrisburg by plane. They will come to Gettysburg late Friday morning and will dine at the Hotel Gettysburg prior to being conducted on a tour over the field.

SOUL ATTENTION

The body, the mind, and the soul, all need vacations! Each needs a sweeping out, a renewal, and new color. People give vacations to their bodies, and sometimes to their minds, but how rarely do they ever give their soul a vacation!

I would say that Nature is the greatest of all chefs to the soul, for she feeds it from every root, branch, and inch of ground that is hers—and it is all hers! Why is it, since the soul of man is his most precious possession, that he favors his body and mind above it? There is spiritual and eternal quality to the soul, and William James has said that "where quality is the thing sought after, the thing of supreme quality is cheap, whatever be the price one has to pay for it."

But when you purchase soul quality you do not do so with money, but with the rarest and priceless elements of your God-nature. You purchase it with white hyacinths, and with love. So deeply was W. H. Hudson's soul wrapped in Nature that he once wrote: "When I was compelled to exist shut out from Nature in London for long periods, sick and poor and friendless, I could yet always feel that it was infinitely better to be than not to be."

I believe it was Emerson, who upon walking away from the burial of Thoreau, remarked: "What a beautiful soul!" I can easily understand Sun worshippers and Nature lovers. In my very amateurish way I am both a Sun and Nature worshiper and lover. And I believe that my inner nature is daily enriched by the fact. My body and my mind this past Summer were separate entities from my soul. I gave this soul of mine its own vacation. It danced upon Sunbeams. Its earliest prayers were from the face of a dewdrop. And before it said its evening prayer it slipped silently behind its favorite star.

The body and mind go out together, but the soul travels alone. It is invisible and yet it is as familiar to the intelligent as is electricity and something that is just as plainly recognized as in existence. The language of life—continual life—is the only language that the soul knows anything about.

Soul attention takes on great importance in the face of that famous sentence in the Bible where it asks: "What does it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?"

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "My Wildflower Friends"

DIET DISOBEDIENCE

When the doctor looks at me,
Asking: "Now what wrong can be?"
Feels my pulse and shakes his head,
Well I know what will be said:
He will tell me there and then:
"You've had cherry pie again!"

Swift his diagnosis made—
Not so swiftly he'll be paid—
As he thumps my stomach round
Comes this statement most profound

From the friendliest of men:
"You've had cherry pie again!"

"Just about this time of year
I'm obliged to hurry here
To relieve your keen distress,
But not hard the cause to guess.
'Gainst your dollar I'll bet ten,
You've had cherry pie again!"

Wise is he; and foolish I.
As he turns to say good-bye
With a grin he says to me:
'Back next year I'll surely be.
Don't forget to call me when
You've had cherry pie again!"

RADIOED ORDERS SPEED UP NEW DEFENSE SETUP

By ELTON C. FAY

Washington, Sept. 18 (AP)—This country's new unified defense machinery went into operation abruptly today on radioed orders from President Truman.

The instructions sent by the President from the battleship bearing him homeward from the Rio De Janeiro conference on Western Hemisphere security came as a surprise to many top-rank officials.

Mr. Truman himself said his decision to have James Forrestal sworn in as secretary of defense yesterday instead of awaiting the Chief Executive's return, as originally planned, was because of the international situation.

Change of Plans

This word, arriving late in the day, contrasted with an earlier explanation issued by the Navy. It said that prior to Mr. Truman's departure for Brazil it had been decided Forrestal would be sworn in about September 15 "or after the President's return, unless all preliminary arrangements had been completed earlier."

Since these "preliminary arrangements had been completed" it was decided to administer the oath to Forrestal yesterday, the Navy said.

However, the mid-morning announcement of the noon swearing in ceremony produced an air of definite surprise at both the Army's Pentagon headquarters and at the Navy department on Constitution avenue.

Aides accompanying Mr. Truman were quick to tell reporters aboard the battleship Missouri that Mr. Truman had no particular development in mind when he told the newsmen the international situation prompted his decision.

Others Take Oaths

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said the Chief Executive was thinking only of "the whole general international situation."

That general situation includes such problems as diplomatic arguments with Russia in the United Nations, conflicting interests between the Soviet Union and the western powers in the Balkans and elsewhere, this country's reiterated pledge to aid democracies in resisting Communist aggression and the

Murder Suspect Is Indicted For Flight

Erie, Pa., Sept. 18 (AP)—John W. Glens, about 50, is under a Federal District Court indictment today on charges of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution in connection with the brutal double slaying last July of two elderly farm hands at Mt. Callitzin academy near Baden in Beaver county.

The indictment was returned by a Federal grand jury yesterday. It followed the return of a murder indictment against Glens by the Beaver county grand jury.

Glens has been the object of a widespread search since the hacked bodies of Matthew Magana, 69, and Joseph Neugebauer, 72, were found. Like Glens, they were employees of the exclusive academy.

Other indictments returned by the grand jury included: Don W. Barnes and Elmer H. Elder, both of Aliquippa, transporting a stolen car; William H. Goven, Charleoi, narcotics violation; Paul J. Bittner, of Uniontown, transporting a stolen car.

To Probe Athletic Competition In Pa.

Harrisburg, Sept. 18 (AP)—A legislative committee will look into the controversial subject of interscholastic athletic competition between high schools of Pennsylvania, Sen. Frederick L. Homsher, of Lancaster announced today.

Homsher, chairman of the newly appointed committee on education of the general assembly's joint state government commission, disclosed the study will be one of seven undertaken by his committee for report and recommendation to the 1949 legislature.

The announcement, made after an United States' sharply depleted military strength.

In the capital, meanwhile, arrangements were made to complete the top echelon of the defense organization with the swearing in today of W. Stuart Symington as secretary of the new independent air force and John L. Sullivan as secretary of the Navy. They had been assistant and under secretaries, respectively, in their departments.

Secretary of War Kenneth C. Royall will witness the ceremony in his office but will not take a new oath since the only change involved for him is to assume the new title of Secretary of the Army. Forrestal was Secretary of the Navy until yesterday.

Found Guilty Of 2nd Degree Murder

Reading, Pa., Sept. 18 (AP)—A Berks county jury of six men and six women found Cleith L. Johnson, 23, of St. Louis, Mo., guilty of second degree murder in the strangling of Frank "Peewee" Haney, 40-year-old Reading company section hand, near Monocacy, Pa.

Presiding Judge Warren K. Hess said he will pronounce sentence within a few days. Johnson, a former marine and Haney's fellow seaman, was found guilty of the murder.

organization meeting of the committee, made no reference to unsuccessful efforts made during the 1947 legislative session to authorize an inquiry into the operations of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic association, which supervises scholastic sports.

TREES ARE CHIEF CASUALTY FROM BAD HURRICANE

By HAL BOYLE

Palm Beach, Fla., Sept. 18 (AP)—If there is sadness in the death of trees, then Palm Beach is a sad place today.

Boarded and empty, the stately homes of this winter social capital of the gold coast still stand intact but its pavements are littered with the corpses of famous fallen trees.

They are the royal palms known to millions of American tourists—tall, slender trees that take the wind as gracefully as a bending sail.

Now they lie like granite road blocks across Royal Poinciana and Royal Palm boulevards—two of the world's beautiful streets, they are down by the hundreds and probably thousands, beaten to earth and uprooted by winds whirling at more than 120 miles an hour.

The hurricane struck in full power yesterday against Palm Beach, a 12-square-mile sea emerald linked to the mainland by three causeways.

The island is valued on tax rolls at $63,000,000.

But few of the millionaires were in their mansions, still shuttered and closed until the winter season. Palm Beach is populated chiefly by caretakers, policemen and firemen. No lives were lost here in the hurricane.

A pre-dawn motor tour of the battered island this morning found it looking pretty much like a drowner with her hair caught in an electric drier.

Every side road was blocked with

A covered dish social was held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Simpson at 6 p. m. The regular monthly meeting of the Consistory and the Woman's Guild of the Evangelical and Reformed church was held after the social. A treasure hunt was the main feature of the evening in the way of entertainment. A prize for the most articles found was won by Miss Helen Martin.

trees. The car lights were blinded at times by heavy rain squalls. High velocity winds sent torn palm fronds skittering across black pavements deserted except for police patrols.

Worth Avenue—the "Fifth Avenue" of society shoppers here—was tightly boarded and only a few windows in its store fronts were broken. Winds had ripped down the bougainvillea vines and they rose and fell like disturbed snakes. Green cocoanuts rolled crazily in the streets like bowling balls on a spree.

A flash light gleaming spectrally on the Spanish type Everglades club, whose members must have blood bluer than blue, showed no signs of damage to that haven of the social elite.

But the erosion of wind and waves, although sparing both of the business sections of Palm Beach, caused considerable destruction on the island section facing seaward.

The following children were received by the Sacrament of Holy Baptism recently at Elias Evangelical Lutheran church: Gary Rollins Reaves, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Reaves; Joyce Ann Rohrbaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Rohrbaugh; Terry Charles Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Frock, Robert M. Gillespie, Audrey M. Baumgardner, Mary Ellen Lively, Frances Linn, James Hays, Margaret Hays, Michael Koranski, Albert Wayne McClellan and Rebecca McNair.

The funeral of Russell D. Ferguson, who died very suddenly on Wednesday at his home at Friends creek, near Emmitsburg, was held on Saturday with services at the funeral home in Thurmont at 10 a. m. in charge of Rev. Ivan G. Mayor Is Concerned About Food Costs

Philadelphia, Sept. 18 (AP)—Mayor Bernard Samuel, expressing deep concern over the upward spiral of food prices in Philadelphia, promised full cooperation of his administration in curbing rising costs of living.

The Philadelphia mayor declared yesterday in a letter to U. S. Attorney Gerald A. Gleason here that mounting food costs have drained seriously the income and financial resources of the people of Philadelphia.

Meanwhile, the local office of the FM is high frequency broadcasting, described by the industry as static-free and of greater tone range.

In many instances construction permit stations may be on the air already. It is usually but a technical step for such stations to acquire full licenses. A station with a conditional grant has certain technicalities to clear before being granted a construction permit.

Following are the Pennsylvania cities in which FM stations now are operating or may be operating at some future date: Allentown (3 stations), Altoona (2), Bethlehem (2), Bradford, Butler (2), Clearfield, DuBois, Easton, Erie (2), Harrisburg (2), Hazleton, Johnstown (2), Lancaster (2), Lebanon (2), Lewistown, McKeesport, Meadville, New Castle, Norristown, Oil City (2), Philadelphia (10), Pittsburgh (7), Pottsville (2), Reading, Sayre, Scranton (5), Shamokin (2), Sharon, State College, Stroudsburg, Sunbury, Uniontown (2), Washington, West Chester, Wilkes-Barre (3), Williamsport (2), York (3).

BAD NEWS FOR SPECULATORS IN GRAIN NEAR

Washington, Sept. 18 (AP)—Bad news for grain speculators shaped up in two branches of the government today amid mounting concern over food and other prices.

On Capitol Hill, Chairman Hope (R.-Kas.) of the House Agriculture committee declared that unless the nation's commodity exchanges themselves apply the brakes to the kind of trading blamed for skyrocketing food prices, then Congress "should and must" impose its own restraints.

Within the administration, President Truman's cabinet committee on food appears headed for a decision to clamp a sharply lower ceiling on grain exports for the months immediately ahead. Officials believe such a step would take some of the wind out of the speculative sails.

Hope's call for a slow-down in grain speculation topped a four point program he outlined in a statement pointing to the "possibility of ruinous inflation at home and want, starvation and political chaos abroad."

Four-Point Plan
As safeguards against the "possibility," the Kansas urged:

1. Voluntary rationing of scarce and high priced foods, "including the substitution of cheaper and more plentiful foods where possible."

2. Holding the line on wages as well as prices, "including restraint by labor leaders in demanding general wage increases."

3. Expanded production in every line "so as to absorb some of the purchasing power which is now forcing up food prices."

4. "Needed steps to restrain speculation in the commodity markets. If the exchanges are unwilling or unable to do this, it should and must be done by legislation."

RAILROAD FARES TO BE INCREASED BY PENNSY SOON

Philadelphia, Sept. 18 (AP)—Interstate and intrastate commutation fares in the Philadelphia area will be increased next week by the Pennsylvania railroad, the railroad announced.

The increases—in keeping with recent action by the Interstate Commerce commission and the Pennsylvania Public Utility commission—will take effect Sunday in the case of commuter tickets between points in Pennsylvania and other states and on Tuesday on commuter tickets wholly within Pennsylvania.

Announcement of the higher fares by the railroad's Eastern Pennsylvania District office here came yesterday shortly after the Pennsylvania Public Utility commission ruled that only five days waiting period will be required rather than the normal 30-day period in such rate cases.

Others Plan Raises — The ICC approved the increases last week.

Four other rail companies are planning similar increases — the Reading company, Philadelphia & Western Railroad company, Philadelphia Suburban Transportation company and the Lehigh Valley Transit company.

Under the Pennsylvania's new rate schedule monthly tickets will be increased by $2.50, three-month 25-trip tickets by $1.25, weekly tickets by 65 cents and monthly school tickets by $2, the railroad said.

The increases are designed to bring commuter fares more nearly into line with rates for the equivalent single fare rates, the railroad said.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, you get people have to rest at night. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of "busy" tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Chapter 9
Austin left the following night to rejoin the band in Chicago. Bruce took him to the airport; and as Austin prepared to board the airliner Bruce clapped him on the back.

"Now don't worry about Nola. Tnette will bring her round in no time."

"Thanks," Austin wished he did not dislike Bruce; but it was impossible for him to have a warm feeling for anybody who had skinned across life as Bruce had.

When Bruce arrived back home Tnette was in Nola's room. He decided not to disturb them; and, instead, went on into the den. He had a lot of housecleaning to do in there. And as he secured the last knot he felt that he had imprisoned, also, all the memories of the old life.

As he slid in behind the steering wheel of the coupe the following Monday, he turned to give Tnette a last kiss. She eluded his lips, put her own close to his ear and whispered:

"You're sure it's what you want?"

"You should know that." There was no trace of doubt in his voice.

"Why do you ask?"

"We women," she said, pecking him lightly on the cheek, "we just like to have our men feel we're not pushing them around."

"Putting the question strictly professionally," he laughed, "do you expect me to believe that?" A startled look fled across her face. "Don't take me seriously," Bruce pleaded. "I'm not responsible any more. I'm collegiate again."

Tnette tried to hold back the tears that sprang to the surface.

"Go on away, you big gawky sophomore," she cried. "Go away and leave me now because I'm going to have a good cry and look ugly."

Through the days he became so absorbed in his desperate efforts to readjust himself that when, on rare occasions Tnette or Julie darted phantom-like across his burdened thoughts, he would come back into the living, noisy world momentarily.

Upon the walls of the laboratory hung the same familiar sectional anatomical charts; on the tables were the specimens and sections. And over the tables hovered eager sharp eyes. The owners were nothing but kids, Bruce thought with a trace of envy.

And they refused to take him seriously. "He was the Bruce Crane, wasn't he?"

"For Pete's sake," one of them said one day, "what you doing in this tomb? If I could tribute those keys the way you do—"

"Maybe I prefer this."

"Isn't normal," the kid decided.

There was only one person in the class who accepted him for the 2nd year medic he was trying to be. That person was Karen Thayer.

Bruce was not quite sure how he and Karen fell into the habit of leaving the laboratory at odd hours for a cigarette out on the steps of the Science Building; nor did he have any very definite remembrance of how they started lunching together. At any rate, on Friday noon of the second week of classes, Karen was sitting opposite him in a restaurant just off campus. Bruce had been telling her about a complicated slide he had been working with in the neurology laboratory when suddenly she brushed a lock of her auburn hair from her forehead.

looked at him candidly as she interrupted him.

"You know that I'm falling for you, don't you?"

His explanation of his neurology slide was forgotten. He was stunned—and showed it.

They sat for a while in an uncomfortable silence. It became imperative to Bruce that one of them say something. Trying to be off-hand, he managed:

"Are you all set for the quiz week from today?"

Karen gave him a queer little smile and got up from the table.

"If you're really interested—No, I'm not ready for the quiz."

On his way home he tried to forget the incident; and it flew from his mind when he found Tnette in her bamboo chair lounging out by her tropical garden reading a book.

He flopped down in a chair beside her and tossed his brief case on the lawn. Leaning back he closed his eyes, yawning luxuriously.

"You're still getting fan mail," Tnette said. She picked up a stack of letters from the table beside her. "Even one in a long, impressive envelope from Phillips, Jacquard, Stone, Pierce, Phillips & Seward."

"You read 'em to me, woman," Bruce said lazily, "so you'll appreciate how wonderful I am."

"Yes, sir. Suppose we start with Phillips, et cetera."

Bruce heard her tear open the envelope; and he waited for her to begin reading.

"Come, come," he said. "I'm not one to be trifled with."

Tnette still made no sound. Bruce opened his eyes in mild surprise; and then he was jolted upright. Tnette's eyes were round pools of horror in an ashen face as she stared at the typewritten words on the thick bond paper.

"But how could he?" she cried. Unceremoniously Bruce took the letter from Tnette. As he read it, his hand trembled; for it was from a firm of Los Angeles attorneys.

"Mr. Gregg has authorized us—in the event of your continued failure to perform in accordance with the terms of said agreement—to institute legal action leading to recovery of damages resulting from your failure to comply with provisions of said agreement."

Bruce tried to believe that Homer was playing a practical joke; but the letter sounded too legal for that. On the other hand, there could not

"In service to the community the year has been a normal one but it experienced a change in the personnel of our nurse for the first time in twenty-one years. For domestic reasons Mrs. J. T. Fogle submitted her resignation in April, asking to be relieved of duty May 1. Reluctantly the Board accepted her resignation, requesting her, however, to continue in service until June 1. was canvassed by our committees concerned and the Board counts itself fortunate to have secured the services of Mrs. John Bushey, Gettysburg, R. 2, who entered upon her duties June 1.

"Mrs. Fogle's service marks an epoch in our work. She served with dignity and character as well as with the kindly sympathy of Christian womanhood, commending herself and our work to the entire community. Mrs. Bushey gives every indication of being a worthy successor.

"During the year our nurses made 814 visits in 145 families and received $442.95 from patients.

"Our Treasurer's reports shows that the canvass for funds conducted by the Finance committee, Miss Anna McSherry, collector, gave us $802.; solicitations $299; Union Thanksgiving service $60.29; Week of Prayer services $47.20. Our total income in cash was $1,651.44. Our total disbursements were $1,627.31. It will, therefore, again be necessary to canvass the community for a renewal of membership dues and larger contributions.

"The Association makes grateful acknowledgment of the support it has received in the past. Without it our work could not long continue. We greatly appreciate the generous publicity given by the Gettysburg Times, and the donation by the Times and News Publishing Company of Gettysburg of envelopes and stationery.

"We, also, record our appreciation of the work of our canvassers, our treasurer, and our Finance committee and its faithful solicitor.

"We recommend the continuance of the work and the employment of Mrs. Joseph Bushey as our full-time nurse, and we bespeak a generous response to the necessary canvass for funds.

Respectfully submitted,
HERBERT C. ALLEMAN,
President.

Re-Opening Of Mount St. Mary's College Finds All-Time Record Enrollment

177 Register In Freshman Class, Bringing Total To Nearly 700 At Emmitsburg

Mount Saint Mary's college has opened for its 140th year with the largest enrollment in its history.

Nearly 700 students are studying at the school and its seminary, with 17 of the students being members of the Freshman class. There are 70 seminarians.

Besides the 177 freshmen the school has 299 sophomores, 71 juniors and 33 seniors. Classes got underway today but the school actually began its year Monday, when the freshmen arrived to register and become orientated before beginning their year.

The students, who are jamming every square inch available at the college, are for the most part men who registered late last spring, when the enrollment for the present session reached such a height that school officials had to cancel all future registrations unless of an outstanding nature.

According to the dean, the Rev. Fr. Francis P. McNelis, the number present at the school now is the top enrollment that can be accepted for the school, with every room filled and with all available teaching space utilized.

Most Are Former GIs
Most of the students, as in previous semesters, are former GIs.

The increased enrollment has caused an increase in the faculty with a number of new teachers appointed. They include Charles Bridy, instructor in education, who received his bachelor of arts degree from Mount Saint Mary's in 1935, and his master of arts degree from Duke university in 1940; Charles E. Curtin, instructor in biology, who holds a master of arts degree from Catholic university; Matt Gibney, instructor in economics, who received a bachelor of science degree from Harvard university in 1933, and who has done graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania, and Joseph J. Velky, instructor in chemistry who received his bachelor in arts degree from Mount Saint Mary's in 1943.

The student enrollment tops last year's record high of 507 students. Since last year barracks have been added for students with families, houses have been built for additional members of the faculty and a general program of building and reconstruction has been carried out.

Despite the tremendous number of students, the college continues to present the appearance of calm and charm that has always marked the campus. The native stone buildings nestle back against the mountains and are half hidden by huge old trees. The long slope from the college itself to the Frederick-Emmitsburg road is a huge lawn leading to the school.

Founded Two Schools

Mount Saint Mary's college was founded in 1807 or 1808, with the school using the latter figure on its seal as the date of establishment. However documentary evidence shows that the Rev. Fr. John DuBois, founder of the school, had a seminary in operation during the former year.

Father DuBois, a refugee from the French revolution, founded two schools in the Emmitsburg area. In 1805 he set up the Chiquapin school, located on a farm known as Hayland near Emmitsburg. He named the school for the Indian name given the nuts on trees at the farm.

Two or three years later he closed that school and started anew at Mount Saint Mary's.

While the Mount Saint Mary's farm today is one of the finest in Maryland and provides much of the food that appears on the tables at the dining hall in the college, the founder did not want to have much to do with farming. He wrote to Bishop Carroll of Baltimore in 1807 that he did not "want to have a farm attached to the new seminary, for the less concern a clergyman has for farming the better for him." Apparently the bishop must have agreed for he answered the letter by giving DuBois the right to admit both lay and clerical students to his school.

Chartered In 1830

Described as the co-founder of the school is Simon Brute, who came to the Mount in 1812 and whose influence did much to mold the college of today. The school received its charter from the Maryland state legislature in 1830 under President John Purcell. The first student to obtain a degree under the new charter was Francis L. Higgins, of Norfolk, Va., who received a master of arts degree in February 1830.

Longest incumbency of any president of the college was that of the Rev. Fr. John McCaffery, who came to the college on St. Patrick's day in 1838, assumed the presidency and remained in office for 34 years. During his reign many of the buildings still used today by the college, were built.

The second longest administration was that of the late Monsignor Bernard J. Bradley who was president from 1911 to 1936. The Bradley administration also marked the last time that a Mount St. Mary's college president has held the office of rector of the seminary.

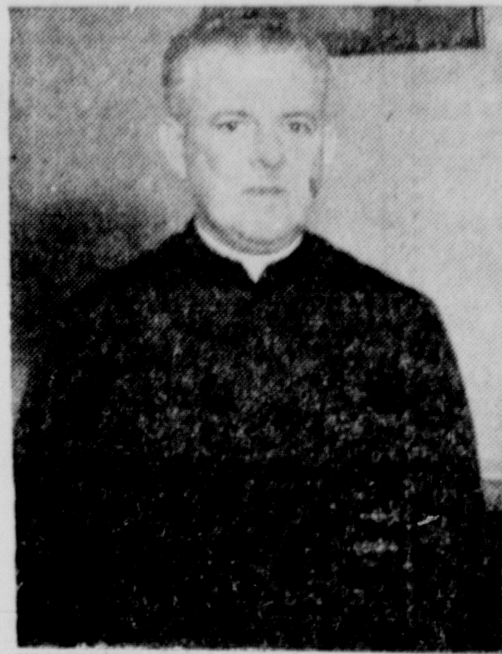

Monsignor Bradley completed the seminary building and saw it filled to capacity. He also built the present administration building at the college. During Monsignor Bradley's term the college also received a supplement to its charter granting it university rights.

Monsignor John L. Sheridan, present president of the school, is celebrating his tenth year as president. He was appointed acting president upon the death of Monsignor Bradley in 1936 and was elected president the following year by the college.

Officers and Faculty

The officers of administration and complete faculty are listed as follows: Rt. Rev. John L. Sheridan, president; Rev. William F. Culhane, vice president and treasurer; Rev. Francis P. McNelis, dean; Rev. Elwood S. Berry, secretary; Rev. Hugh J. Phillips, librarian; Rev. James P. Diamond, prefect of discipline; John M. Roddy, Jr., registrar.

Faculty, cleric and lay including new members, this year are: Rev. Fr. Berry, Rev. James G. Burke, Rev. Peter A. Coad, Rev. John P. Cogan, Charles Curbin, Rev. Fr. Diamond, John J. Dillon, Jr., Thomas P. Dillon, Phillip Dunn, Rev. Carl

NEW HOMES FOR FACULTY BUILT AT THE MOUNT

The program of construction and renovation at Mount St. Mary's college is continuing through the coming year after a summer in which workmen have been busy on a number of construction projects on the campus.

Four of five houses being constructed east of the college, on college land, for members of the faculty have been completed and the other is well under way. In addition to the five brick-cased structures, the college has also made two apartments in the former Callahan house near the campus for the use of the lay faculty members.

A temporary building has been erected near the chemistry laboratory building for use as a science laboratory until such time as the college can complete the huge new science hall it plans to build in the near future. The temporary building, constructed from a former Army structure, has been fully equipped for the opening of school.

At the seminary building workmen were busy this summer completely renovating the structure. Installation of new fireproof stairways, painting of all rooms, and similar work was the schedule for the workmen at the seminary building during the summer.

During the summer a new recreation field was graded to the south of the seminary for use of the seminarians.

One major construction job still in the preliminary stage at the college is the construction of the new gymnasium for which workmen have been cutting stone from a quarry located in the mountain west of the college.

Stones quarried are being cut and shaped immediately by a crew of stonecutters and then will be transported to the proposed site of the gymnasium.

Foundress Of St. Joseph's College At Emmitsburg May Be Canonized By Holy See

If all goes well, the foundress of St. Joseph's college may some day be canonized as a saint by the Roman Catholic church.

The process of canonization, begun in 1907, is continuing, the Rev. Salvatore M. Burgio, C.M., vice postulator of the cause of Mother Seton, said today after returning from a recent trip to Rome where he was granted three audiences with the Pope.

Just how long the process of canonization will take until Emmitsburg secures its first official saint is a matter that no one can answer, the Rev. Fr. Burgio pointed out, in describing the long and exhausting examination that is made by the church of all claims.

Actually the destruction of any hope of the outcome of Mother Seton's cause was avoided by only a two-day margin during World War II, and the war delayed much of the work that must be done before final decision is reached on the worthiness of Elizabeth Ann Seton to be a saint.

Saved Valuable Papers

Father Burgio tells the story: "When in 1944 word reached this country that military exigence had demanded the sacrifice of the famous Benedictine monastery of our Benedictine monastery of Monte Cassino, we could not have anticipated that this tragic event could have had any relationship to the cause of Mother Seton's canonization. Yet in the destruction of this cradle of the creative and conserving influence of the Benedictine order, the destruction of any hope for the successful outcome of Mother Seton's cause was avoided only by a two-day margin.

"For it was at this famous center of Christian culture that Don Mauro Inguanez, distinguished scholar and consultant of the Sacred Congregation of Rites, was engaged in the expert examination of the letters and documents pertaining to her cause. Had not the V. Rev. Ferdinando Antonelli, O.F.M., rector-general of the historical section of the Sacred Congregation of Rites, in view of the danger to the monastery, urgently requested that this invaluable material be returned to Rome, where it arrived only two days before the bombing of the monastery, perhaps all would have been lost in the fire-blackened ruins of Monte Cassino."

Much Work Ahead

The work off documentation of the writings and materials in the cause of Mother Seton, delayed by the war, and almost destroyed at Monte Cassino, soon is to be completed and printed and then will begin the work of fulfillment of further essential requirements which, those backing her cause hope, will lead in several years to her being acclaimed venerable.

The title venerable means that the church after intensive investigation declares the "Servant of God" worthy of the honors of the Altar. Father Burgio explains, "The principal purpose of the process leading to the bestowing of the title venerable is to prove that the servant of God had practiced the theological and moral virtues in an heroic degree—that is that the servant of God practiced Faith, Hope, Charity, Prudence, Justice, Fortitude and Temperance constantly even under the most trying circumstances."

One fact delaying the decision of the church on whether Mother Seton may be termed venerable is the fact that all who knew her personally are long since dead. In the ordinary course of events the tribunal examining the case hears the testimony of a large number of witnesses who knew personally the person whose cause is being advanced.

Modifies Procedure

In the case of Mother Seton, whose cause was started in 1907, 86 years after Mother Seton's death in 1821, there was only one witness in 1907 who knew her personally. As a result the documents for the informative process—or study of the life of the servant of God, lay idly in the archives of the Sacred Congregation of Rites.

Under ordinary procedure the cause was hopeless, Father Burgio explains, until 1930 when Pius XI modified the procedure by recognizing "historical causes," or those in which there is neither contemporary testimony of the facts in question nor any certain proof of depositions of witnesses properly taken at the right time.

Thus procedure was established whereby proof could be made from various documents, such as diaries, personal letters, contemporary written statements as to the sanctity of the person, books written by the person and the like.

Study Miracles

That is the manner in which the Seton cause is progressing at the present time.

While the cause of Mother Seton is being moved as rapidly as possible, it will still be a long time before she can be canonized a saint, even after the title venerable has been granted, Father Burgio points out. If and when the venerable title is bestowed, the next step toward beatification and canonization is a study of miracles performed by the person whose cause is advanced. Father Burgio explains in detailing the process by which a servant of God can become a canonized saint.

For the beatification of Mother Seton four miracles are necessary. One miracle will be dispensed with because she is a foundress of a religious community—a Community of the Sisters of Charity in America, at Emmitsburg in 1809.

Difficult to Prove

Proving existence of a miracle, Father Burgio points out, is one of the most difficult things in the church. As an example, he said, a person who was fatally ill with some disease and who in an hour or two regained full health might seem to the ordinary person to have been cured by a miracle—some action above and beyond the powers of nature, and which sets aside the laws of nature.

But to prove it a miracle takes a tremendous amount of proof, statements and study. And if there is the slightest belief that the cure may have been effected naturally, then there is no miracle.

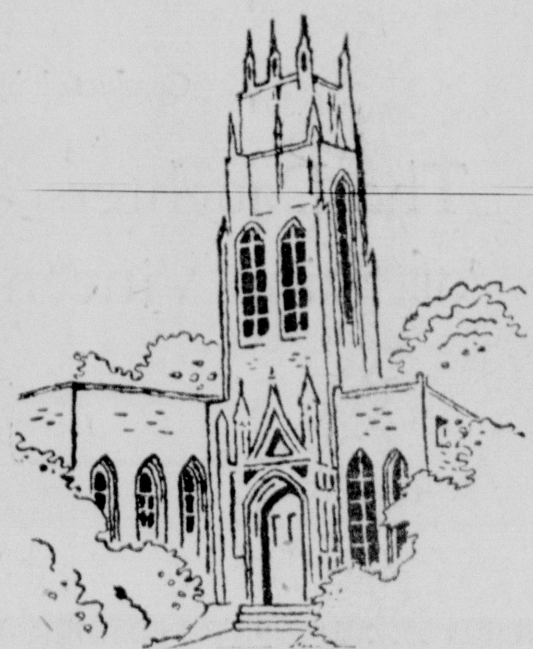

Promoting the cause of Mother Seton is a guild of some 13,000 members, with headquarters in Emmitsburg.

MOUNT "FIRSTS"

Mount graduates have a long line of "firsts" to their honor. One of the men who gained several "firsts" was the Rev. Charles Constantine Pise, who became the first Catholic priest ever to be chaplain of the United States Senate. He also was the first American to become a "Knight of the Sacred Palace and Count Palatine," a distinction given him in 1832 by Pope Gregory XIV.

SAYS VETERANS INCREASE LEVEL OF SCHOLARSHIP

The general level of scholarship among the students at Mount Saint Mary's college has been greatly increased through the presence of the GI students.

That is one conclusion that can be reached from the experience of the college with students who are veterans of World War II, the Rev. Fr. Francis J. McNelis, dean of studies, said today.

Father McNelis, a Navy chaplain during World War II, is high in his praise of the veterans who make up the majority of the student body at the Mount as at all other educational institutions in the country.

Making two prognostications as to the results of the tremendous number of students who have crowded educational institutions since the end of the war, Father McNelis points out as beliefs:

Sees Steady Growth

That the student bodies of the colleges will be tremendously expanded for the next ten years.

That such a tremendous interest in advanced education will be engendered that "soon a college diploma will be as necessary to a person seeking employment as a high school diploma is today."

While veterans as a whole are much more serious students than students of pre-war years, the married veterans even outrank their bachelor fellow students when it comes to application and intellectual effort, Father McNelis declares.

One reason advanced for the determination on the part of the GI students to get everything possible out of their courses of study is the fact that they are more mature, and realize more highly the value of their studies, Father McNelis adds.

The ex-GIs are also finding that they are having less difficulty in adapting themselves to an academic life than they had expected. Father McNelis put forth that theory as one of the reasons for a decided

Mount Dean

REV. FR. FRANCIS J. MCNELIS

Trend Toward Sciences

Last year, he pointed out, the students crowded the business administration courses. Two reasons could be given for that, he explained, first that many of the students had been clerks in stores or business establishments before going into the armed forces, and naturally turned toward more study to advance themselves in their previous type of work. A second reason might have been the fear of returning veterans that they would be unable to carry courses in which the more unfamiliar sciences are taught.

This year the trend is toward the sciences, he said, and many students who last year began business administration courses are swinging over to some branch of science. Quite a few are planning to be doctors and are taking the pre-medical courses. A number are planning to become dentists, and are adopting the pre-dental courses. Others are interested in chemistry, biology and the like with the idea of becoming laboratory workers and similar specialists.

No one so far has notified the college of plans to become a nuclear physicist, Father McNelis says, but he adds that such a "pre-course" might some day be desired by many students.

Show More Interest

The interest of the veteran students has done away with disciplinary problems in classes, the dean relates. One class in psychology taught by the Rev. Fr. John P. Cogan, whose lectures have always been of intense interest to Mount students, now has over 100 members. The college would like to reduce the number of students for the course, but the interest of the students prevents. Yet the 100 last year were quieter and more attentive than classes of 15 or 20 were before the war, Father McNelis reports.

While the ex-GIs are much better scholars than some of the same men were in their pre-war days the tremendous number of students is creating a condition which Father McNelis feels is a disadvantage.

"The close association between students and faculty that was possible in the days of a smaller student body and smaller classes is being lost to a certain extent," the dean says.

"The Mount spirit, and one of the features of the college before the war was this close relationship. Now, while valiant efforts are being made to maintain this personal contact that is the backbone of the small college, it is impossible to maintain the relationship on the same scale as was possible before the war," he said.

MOUNT GRAD IS FIRST YANK TO BE CARDINAL

A graduate of Mount Saint Mary's college was the first American to be named a cardinal of the Roman Catholic church.

That graduate was John McCloskey, later John Cardinal McCloskey, whose distinguishing characteristics at Mount Saint Mary's were mildness and amiability. His first sermon after being named Archbishop of New York was on the theme: "Peace Be To You."

Despite his mild manner the Cardinal was a man of decision and of great skill, characterized by scholarship and administrative ability. Through his efforts the cathedral at Albany, New York, was constructed. He founded the Theological Seminary at Troy, N. Y. and established a number of orphanages, hospitals, reformatories and other institutions.

First New York Priest

He was the first American to be Cardinal and also the first native of New York to become a diocesan priest. Born on Long Island in 1810, the son of a farmer, he grew in a time in which his faith took effort. As a boy he, with his mother and father, had to row across the East River to New York in order to attend mass at the nearest church.

Not quite 12 years old when he came to Mount Saint Mary's in 1821, McCloskey was frail and delicate in physique, but powerful in studies. One of the first reports concerning him read: "Piety — a child yet; religion, more attentive than formerly; third Latin, excellent; second French, applies and succeeds; behavior, much better than formerly, much improved, temper mild but easily led and artful when led away; application very good, excellent manners."

He graduated, winning most of the prizes in his class, in 1830. After studying in Catholic centers in France he returned and was given charge of a church in 1834. Seven years later he was appointed president of the then new St. John's college, New York, now Fordham.

Mount Rejected Its First Charter

If Mount Saint Mary's college had accepted the first charter offered to it by the Maryland State Legislature in 1830, the school would probably soon have become the property of the state of Maryland.

In 1884 he succeeded Archbishop Hughes to the See of New York. He was elevated to the dignity of Cardinal in 1875. A few days after he became a Cardinal he announced he would attend the commencement at Mount Saint Mary's.

That charter reserved to the state the right to take any property which might increase the value of the school beyond $25,000. The then president, John Purcell, went to see Roger B. Taney, who later was to become chief justice of the U. S. Supreme Court, to ask what he should do.

Taney answered: "Send it back and let the legislature send a new one." Purcell did and the state legislature did.

Nephew Of First President At Mount

There are thousands of buildings throughout the U. S. that bear the inscription, "George Washington slept here," but Mount Saint Mary's college, if it wished, could erect a sign stating, "George Washington Studied Here."

The George Washington was not the father of his country, but a nephew of the first president of the United States, who came to the Mount in 1828 from Mt. Vernon.

ST. JOSEPH'S BEGINS 137TH SESSION TODAY

St. Joseph's college at Emmitsburg began its 137th year this morning at a mass offered by the Very Rev. Francis J. Dodd, C.M., president of the college.

The 220 students and the members of the faculty gathered at the administration building in academic garb at 8:30 o'clock this morning and then formed an academic procession to the college chapel for the mass. Later in the morning an informal assembly was held in DePaul auditorium.

While the college formally opened today, the earlier part of this week has been devoted to the pre-school tasks of arranging for the school year. Monday the annual Freshman orientation program began. That program is designed to minimize for the new students the problems of adjustment to their new life as college students and to register them for the coming year.

Annual Luncheon
The first faculty meeting of the year was held Monday morning with the Rev. Fr. Dodd presiding. At noon a buffet luncheon was served the faculty in the Green Room. The luncheon, at which wives of lay professors were present, is held annually to introduce new members and welcome back former instructors.

A number of new members have been added to the faculty of the school this year. Among them are

Dr. William K. Sundermeyer, West Lincoln avenue, who will teach German, which is being reintroduced to the course of studies at St. Joseph's.

Other new faculty members include: The Rev. Fr. Joseph O'Donnell, M.A., S.T.L., S.S.L., Emmitsburg, who will teach religion; Mrs. Annabelle Melville, M.A., Albany, N. Y., and William Osborne, M.A., Emmitsburg, both of the Social Science department; Miss Dorothea Hoar, M.S., Dorchester, Mass., of the department of biological sciences; Donald P. Murphy, B.A., West Hartford, Conn., who will assist in the department of English; Thomas P. Dillon, B.S., Emmitsburg, who will teach commerce and Sinclair Brian Wilson, B.S., of the chemistry department, and Miss Mary Louise Manning, B.S., A.D.A., dietitian.

Classes are scheduled to begin Friday morning. On Sunday the students at St. Joseph's will present a social for the students of Mount Saint Mary's college at the cabin along Tom's creek in the first inter-college social activity of the year.

Incorporated in 1816
St. Joseph's was incorporated in 1816. Its history dates back to the arrival of Mother Elizabeth Ann Seton in the summer of 1809. Mother Seton and her group of sisters stayed at Mount Saint Mary's college until their first home at Emmitsburg was completed. In August 1809 they moved into the "old stone house" which still stands on the campus of St. Joseph's.

On February 22, 1810, after completion of another building, the first students were admitted and by the end of 1810 there were 35 boarding students and 40 day students at the school. The stated aim

MOUNT HISTORY TO BE WRITTEN BY DR. STOCK

Dr. Leo Stock, formerly of Gettysburg, and a graduate of the school in 1896, will rewrite the history of Mount St. Mary's college, Monsignor John J. Sheridan, president of the college, has announced.

Doctor Stock, an outstanding historian, for many years was associated with the Catholic university at Washington and the Carnegie foundation. At present he is a professor of history at Trinity college, Washington.

Doctor Stock is planning a three-volume work with volumes one and two containing the history of the school from its founding to the present time. Volume three will be in the nature of an appendix to contain documents, lists, chronicles of events and other pertinent and illustrative matter.

Trace Early Education
The tentative plan of work calls for the history to start with a history of education in the 18th century, especially its nature in France, from which came the founders of the college. A historical background of American conditions at the time of the founding of the college at the beginning of the nineteenth century, and a section on the beginnings of the college will precede presentation of the history of the college to be given by presidents. Chapters dealing with such topics as the faculty, athletics, social life, contributions to American life in the several fields by the alumni, the seminary, preparatory department and the like are to be included. The history will not be a mere "popular" recital, Monsignor Sheridan said, but is to be scientific, properly documented and based on primary and secondary sources.

Free School in 1820
After incorporation under Maryland law, a normal school for the preparation of teachers was established. In 1820 Mother Seton established a free school, one of the last of her ambitions to be carried out. She died January 4, 1821.

Such buildings as the Delual, the Brute and the Square buildings were constructed in 1826 and the church was completed in 1841.

One of the milestones of the early years was the union of Mother Seton's Daughters of Emmitsburg with the Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul of France. This union solicited by Mother Seton during her lifetime, but unavoidably delayed until 1850 marked the coming of the carmelite now so familiar on the college campus.

The college was occupied at different time by Confederate and Union soldiers during the battle of Gettysburg period, and the nuns there came to Gettysburg to serve as nurses during and after the battle here.

In 1902 the college was empowered to confer degrees.

Gave Thanks For Blaze At Mount

The spirit of the founder of Mount Saint Mary's college, the Rev. Fr. John DuBois, was best summed up in a statement he made in 1824.

Father DuBois had completed construction of a new stone building for the college. It was only partially occupied when fire swept through the building one night and destroyed it.

Instead of complaining Father DuBois gave thanks, for "The building had many defects which I shall correct in the new one." He then proceeded to mark off a new spot for a structure to replace the one destroyed.

Mount Divided Over Civil War

Mount Saint Mary's college was as divided as the remainder of the country over the Civil War.

When the war broke out the authorities secured a Captain Beltzhoover, a graduate of West Point, to train the students in military tactics. The captain, however, did not stay in command of the college outfit long, for he soon left to join the army—of the confederacy.

So many students left the college during the Civil War to join either one side or the other that eventually the student body totalled only 67.

Between 1825 and 1835 about 2,400 miles of canals were constructed in the United States.

Electron microscopes magnify as much as 50 times greater than is possible with a light microscope.

ST. JOSEPH'S WILL PUBLISH 1ST YEAR BOOK

St. Joseph's college will publish, this coming spring, its first student yearbook in 18 years.

Jeanne Preston Smith, is editor of the annual for the class of 1948. Frances Hewes has been named associate editor and Jane Conlon, business manager, for the new publication. The trio have been at work for some time in planning layouts for the book, securing advertisements and the like.

All the regular elements of a yearbook will be included; the senior pictures, informal snaps, a history of the class at Saint Joseph's, and all club activities.

The predecessor of the yearbook was known as the Argus. This was published for many years but was discontinued in 1930.

Editors are Journalists

Miss Smith is a graduate of St. Joseph's Academy, McSherrystown, where she served as editor of the school paper. She now is on the staff of the college newspaper.

Miss Hewes attended Mission high school, Boston, Mass. While there she was co-editor of both the school paper and the yearbook. She is also a feature writer for the college newspaper.

Miss Conlon lives in Richmond Hill, N. Y., where she attended Bishop McDonnell Memorial high school. She is now business manager for the Valley Echo.

These girls were elected by the junior class and approved by the faculty. The work on the book is being supervised by Sister Mary Ellen Kelly, head of the journalism department.

Stunt Pilot Dies In Plunge To Sea

Bournemouth, Eng., Sept. 18 (AP)—A small boy selected from thousands of spectators at an RAF exhibition Wed. radioed a request to a Spitfire pilot overhead to "do me a victory roll."

Flight Lt. B. E. Green, a Canadian, rolled his fighter a few hundred feet off the beach and radioed back: "Sorry, sonny, it was not a very good one."

Green tried again. The Spitfire dived into the sea and he drowned.

France Once Gave Francs To Mount

A complete impartiality was maintained by Mount Saint Mary's college in regards to France during its early days despite the fact that its founder had fled France due to the political upheavals there.

The best example of its impartiality in affairs French occurred in 1821 when the college accepted a gift of 3,000 francs from Louis XVIII, king of France, where Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte, nephew of the then exiled Napoleon was a student at the school.

LIBRARY BUILT AT ST. JOSEPH'S WILL OPEN SOON

St. Joseph's college at Emmitsburg will soon have a new library—constructed from what had been the former high school auditorium in Burlando hall.

The new and larger library has coat rooms on either side of the main entrance and the librarian's desk is to be at the center of the main floor. A second floor balcony, with a wrought iron railing, will extend to all but the front side of the building. Along the balcony are to be semi-private cubicles for students doing special or research work. A "browsing room" is located off the balcony for students wishing to glance through magazines or books in search of material.

Books Air Conditioned

Off the main floor of the library are two rooms, one a librarians' office and the other for rare books. In the basement are stack rooms and storage space with the stack rooms air conditioned for better care of the books. The whole building housing the library has been processed to render it fireproof and soundproof.

New lighting has been installed in the library and all new equipment has been secured for the main floor of the library. The equipment utilized in the old library will be placed on the second floor balcony and in the workroom.

The library is planning an audio-visual aids department complete with records and slides.

Work on the library was scheduled to be completed by the opening of school today, but was delayed due

POLITICOS ARE MARKING THEIR REPORT CARDS

By ARTHUR EDSON

Washington, Sept. 18 (AP)—Ever since Congress went home, politicians have been working like mad, marking up their own report cards.

Take Rep. Halleck. This modest Republican from Indiana has carefully studied the efforts of the Republican Congress. His verdict: A straight "A" in everything. Halleck is GOP House leader.

Take Senator Barkley. This modest Democrat from Kentucky has carefully studied the efforts of the Republican Congress. His verdict: Unsatisfactory, probably have to be set back a grade. Barkley is minority leader of the Senate.

You can't miss Joe. He's been a regular—and conspicuous—Congressional visitor since 1938. Usually he's on the front row at important committee hearings, weighing, accepting, discarding the evidence. Joe looks like an ancient prophet, with his bushy beard, his long gray hair and his cotton suit which appears to be the direct descendant of a feed sack.

Have Axes To Grind
Okay, Joe. What's the lowdown on Congress?

"No different from the others," said Joe.

And when he gave his reason, it turned out that Joe isn't any more unprejudiced than Halleck or Barkley.

"I couldn't get anyone to introduce my bill," said Joe sadly. "This town is loaded with people with axes to grind. They all want to make sure that Congress does, or does not, pass certain legislation. Big men, with big axes. Middle-sized men, middle-sized axes. Little men, little axes."

And Joe, representing Joe Molnar exclusively, with his tiny ax.

Born in Hungary in 1882, Joe came to this country in 1907. He worked in the middle west as a carpenter, farm hand, laborer.

And then, in 1938, he had his big idea. Wouldn't it be nice, Joe thought, if everybody had a job? He had the answer, too—cooperatives, set up by the government under the Molnar system.

So he started work on a bill that now fills three typewritten pages. Naturally this was too good a thing to keep to himself. He hurried to Washington to share his discovery with Congress.

Any luck?

"Taft is 'Too Busy'" "There was a time," he said, "when I thought Senator Taft was interested. He was real nice when I talked to him. Now, I don't know. He always seems busy when I come around."

Last session 7,389 measures of one kind or another were introduced in Congress. Not one of these was

New Oxford

New Oxford—Mr. and Mrs. Norman Auchey entertained the Always Faithful class of the First Lutheran church at their home during the week.

Prof. and Mrs. Robert Nicholas Helzel have returned to their home at Kingston after spending several months at their summer home west of town.

Miss Eva Klinefelter was leader on Sunday evening at the meeting of the Youth Fellowship of St. Paul's Reformed church.

Mrs. S. J. Haverstick recently entertained fellow members of Class No. 3, of St. Paul's Reformed church at her home.

Mrs. Mabel C. Lee, New Chester, has been recuperating at her home after recent treatment at the University hospital, Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald L. Orndorff and daughter, Charlotte, made a recent trip to Arlington, Va. Mr. Orndorff has resumed his duties as Joe's. Obviously by his exacting standards the 80th Congress has been a failure.

Was he getting discouraged? "Sometimes," said Joe. But his depression soon passed. A zealot's always does.

"Can't tell you his name," said Joe, "but I've got a senator who's interested."

So if you see your congressman, you might tell him that when Congress reconvenes, Joe Molnar will be waiting.

Look for him on the front row.

If you're serving less meat than you did when prices were lower, you can make up for it by giving extra thought to other foods. Choose your family's favorites at your A&P... and please everybody from Pop to the pup!

SUPER SPAGHETTI
Even without one meatball, spaghetti can be mighty satisfying... especially when it's A&P's ANN PAGE SPAGHETTI fixed like this: Cook an 8-oz. package according to package directions; drain. Combine 1½ cups (a 10½ oz. can) tomato puree, 1 small onion (chopped), ½ cup grated carrots, 1 tsp. celery salt, 1 tsp. sugar, 2 tbsps. Worcestershire sauce and 2 tbsps. fat. Cook over low heat 5 minutes. Place spaghetti on platter; add 4 quartered hard-cooked eggs and sauce. Serves 4.

CHEESE MIT
To make sandwiches that supply some of the protein which meatless menus may lack, I use protein-rich cheese. And to make this pinch-hitter for meat score an extra hit, I team it with MARVEL SOUR TYPE RYE BREAD from the A&P. I've never eaten tastier rye bread, and every luscious loaf is guaranteed fresh. Try it!

Mummasburg

Mummasburg.—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sell spent a week recently visiting relatives in Illinois. Mrs. Sell's mother from Hanover is now visiting at the Sell home.

S. C. Clark, of Collinsville, Illinois, is spending some time at the home of his sister, Mrs. George Folden. Mrs. Blanch Seerest and Ralph Folden, of Newmarket, are also visiting their mother, Mrs. Folden. They all visited George teacher at the Pine Run school, near here.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Naugle, near here, has been named Linda Pauline.

Miss Anna Jane Bollinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey G. Bollinger, has left for Susquehanna university, Selinsgrove, to begin her sophomore year in the music department.

A record attendance from this area is reported to have been at the York fair during the past week. The borough schools were closed for a day during the week to give an opportunity to students and faculty to attend the fair.

Mrs. Robert C. Berkheimer, Jr., Abbotstown, has assumed her duties in charge of the Abbotstown kindergarten for a second year. Mrs. Berkheimer, who has recovered from her recent sickness, is the former Miss Nettie M. Kopman, a graduate of the local high school in 1941.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Miller, State college, were recent visitors of local relatives.

SHORT SIGHTED

Bobby Bragan, the Dodgers' bullpen catcher, was bracing baseball writers and even Secretary Harold Parrott the other day asking if he couldn't get an extra pair of world series tickets. "Who do you want them for?" Parrott finally demanded. "Me and Rex Barney," came the answer. "We can't see so good from the bull pen."

Folden who is a patient at the Warner hospital.

Mrs. Bessie Riddle, of Hanover, and son, Corporal James Kaufman, who is stationed at Lowry Field, Colorado, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Junior Cullison.

RECALLS THREE RED CASES IN SUPREME COURT

By MAX HALL
Washington, Sept. 18 (AP)—Three famous Supreme Court cases on the subject of Communism are worth recalling today.

They are the Harry Bridges, William Schneiderman, and Joseph George Strecker cases.

They have taken on new interest because the U. S. Immigration Service again has accused the Communist party of advocating the overthrow of the government by violence.

On this ground, the immigration service is making new attempts to deport aliens whom it believes to be Communists.

The principal law involved is the Immigration Act. It provides for the exclusion or deportation of aliens who are "members of or affiliated with" any organization which "believes in, advises, advocates, or teaches . . . the overthrow by force or violence of the government of the United States."

Let's look at the three earlier cases, in the order in which the Supreme Court decided them:

1. Joseph George Strecker was an Austrian-born alien, living in Arkansas. In applying for U. S. citizenship in 1933, he admitted he had joined the Communists in 1932 but said he had left the party.

The government ordered him deported. But in 1939 the Supreme Court ruled against the order. The court said the Immigration Act, as then worded, required deportation only for "present membership" in a subversive organization, and not for past membership.

2. William Schneiderman was born in Russia and naturalized at Los Angeles in 1927. Twelve years later, in 1939, the Immigration Service sought to cancel his citizenship under the Naturalization Act.

This law says a person, to be naturalized, must be attached to the principles of the constitution and well disposed to the good order of the United States. It also provides for cancellation of citizenship which has been "illegally procured."

Schneiderman admitted he had been a Communist in 1927 and was still a Communist in 1939.

Court Favors Red
The government said he had "illegally procured" his citizenship because the Communist party advocated the violent overthrow of the government.

But Schneiderman denied that either he or the party advocated this.

In 1943 the Supreme Court ruled in a 5-3 decision that membership in the party was not sufficient to deprive Schneiderman of his citizenship.

3. Harry Bridges the West Coast labor leader, was born in Australia. He was ordered deported in 1942 by Francis Biddle, at that time U. S. attorney general, after long hearings by the Immigration Service. The Immigration Service is a part of the Justice Department.

Biddle said Bridges had been both "affiliated with" and a "member" of the Communist party, and that the party advocated violent overthrow of the government.

Bridges denied either affiliation or membership. He asked the courts to release him from the Immigration Service, which technically had him in custody with the object of deporting him. Two federal courts turned him down.

But finally, in June, 1945, the Supreme Court set him free in a 5-3 decision.

East Berlin.—Improvement is reported in the condition of Mrs. Paul Shetter, Hanover, who underwent a major operation more than a month ago at the Hanover hospital, but is now recuperating at her home. Her husband formerly resided here with his grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shetter.

Miss Betty Jean Butt, daughter of Mrs. Grace Brown Butt and a graduate of the last class of the Lebanon Valley Conservatory of Music, Annapolis, has left for Philadelphia to begin her duties as a teacher of public school music.

Miss Elizabeth Delone with her foster children, R. I., have reported rounded off and planted with shrubbery and that stripped areas near homes or highways are completely backfilled.

returned to their home in the Pittsburgh area after spending a week with Mr. Shetter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Shetter. The visitors also visited at the York fair.

Miss Anna K. Hull has resumed her duties as a teacher at the Thomasville public school. Miss Hull spent the summer at Atlantic City, N. J., where she had a position.

Mrs. J. A. Williams, of Ohio, has been visiting at the home of her mother and sister, Mrs. Mary Stambaugh and Miss M. Grace Stambaugh. Mrs. Williams is the former Miss Naomi Stambaugh of town.

Lyle Creekmore has returned from New York where he accompanied his wife and sister-in-law, Miss E. Patricia Booser, and attended to business regarding the new Long Island home he purchased during the summer. He will return to take possession of it about the first of October.

Between 1939 and 1946 France suffered a population loss of 1,000,000 men and 500,000 women.

A traveler crossing Nebraska from east to west climbs an average of ten feet to the mile.

Male sea lions weigh from 1,500 to 1,800 pounds; females, 400 to 500.
